CREATIVE WRITING CONTEST

The Leprechaun Review

"Fiction, drama and poetry by young writers of significant literary promise."

Cash awards and publication are offered on a continuing basis to authors who are previously unpublished — except for college publications and other "little" magazines of limited distribution.

The Leprechaun Review is the widely acclaimed new literary quarterly designed to publish and encourage new writers. This is your invitation to share in the excitement of discovering today the literary "names" of tomorrow.

"Showcase for promising writers" — WRITER'S DIGEST
"opens up another pathway into the tangled consciousness of our times . . . poems and stories of real interest and promise." LEWIS P. SIMPSON, COEDITOR — THE SOUTHERN REVIEW

"Features some excellent work from many exciting new writers. Should be supported by all of us with a sincere interest in American literature." — WRITER'S FORUM MAGAZINE

"Buy a copy and find out for yourself . . . 'alive, and open, and active,' and that is quite enough for me."
